

ELMIRA COLLEGE
CENTER FOR MARK TWAIN STUDIES

THE TROUBLE BEGINS AT EIGHT

2004 SPRING LECTURE SERIES

Wednesday, May 5, 2004, in the Barn at Quarry Farm, 8 P.M.
“Mark Twain and the Wild West Show”

Kerry Driscoll, St. Joseph’s College, West Hartford, Connecticut

Join us in opening the 2004 Spring Lecture Series by welcoming former Elmira College Professor of English, Dr. Kerry Driscoll. Dr. Driscoll is hoping to finish her book on Twain’s attitudes toward, and conflicting representations of Native Americans during her sabbatical next year.

Wednesday, May 12, 2004, in the Barn at Quarry Farm, 8 P.M.
“Was Huck a Unitarian? Joseph Twichell, and Mark Twain’s Huckleberry Finn”

Dwayne Eutsey, Easton, Maryland

Dwayne Eutsey is the Communications Coordinator of the Delmarva Foundation for Medical Care in Easton, Maryland. In 2003, he was awarded a Quarry Farm Research Fellowship to support his writing of a book on Mark Twain’s religious views. The article written during his stay at Quarry Farm is soon to be published.

Wednesday, May 19, 2004, in the Barn at Quarry Farm, 8 P.M.
“Mark Twain and Medicine: ‘Any Mummery Will Cure’”

K. Patrick Ober, M.D., Wake Forest University, Winston-Salem, North Carolina

Dr. K. Patrick Ober is a Professor of Internal Medicine and the Associate Dean for Education at the Wake Forest University School of Medicine. Dr. Ober presented a paper at the Elmira 2001 Conference entitled “The Body in the Cave: Dr. Joseph McDowell’s Influence on Mark Twain.” His new book, “Mark Twain and Medicine: ‘Any Mummery Will Cure.’” Columbia and London, University of Missouri Press, 2003, is now available.